

Ronald B. Feingold, Esq.

Partner

Mr. Feingold was admitted to the First Department of New York in 1976 and to the U.S. District Court, Eastern and Southern Districts of New York in 1977. Mr. Feingold's education prior to his legal studies includes attending the University of Pittsburgh and George Washington University where he earned a Masters in Political Science and International Affairs. At St. John's University, he earned his Juris Doctorate. He is a recipient of the prestigious American Jurisprudence Award for Evidence. He is a member of the National Realty Club.

He has authored numerous articles including: "Avoiding Pitfalls When Dissolving Your Design Firm," Principal's Report, May 2003; "Licensing Pointers for Practicing Out-of-State," Design Firm Management Administration Report, April, 2000; "A Performance Bond Primer," Architectural Record, July, 1984; "Asbestos in Buildings: A Growing Concern for the Real Estate Industry," Probate and Property, March/April, 1987; and the introduction to "More Buy/Sell Agreements," Practice Management Associates, Ltd., 1986. Mr. Feingold has been the speaker on the topic of: "What You Must Do to Get the Most Out of Your Insurance When You Will be Sued," Building Contractors' Association of New Jersey Insurance Seminar, 1988. He has also authored many articles appearing in Real Estate Weekly.

Mr. Feingold's practice Areas include: Construction; Contract Law; Surety Law; Litigation; Corporate Law; Partnership Law; Limited Liability Company Law; Design Professional Licensing Issues.